India

There are so many things captured in this word ... people, places, land, nature, colours, aromas and flavours. We are proud to be able to bring you one of the greatest wonders of this complex land, and introduce you to something new, unexpected and exciting ... a new taste ... the taste of New "India". Since the first modern Indian restaurant, Veeraswamy on Regent Street, opened in London in 1926, many others have followed, with evolution and improvement as time has passed. Today there are more than 9,000 restaurants and takeaways in the UK, generating around £3 billion in annual revenue for the British economy. The history of Indian food in Britain dates back over 300 years and has a direct link to the East India Trading Company.

There really are no words that truly manage to capture the enigma that is India, where you will find an enormous diversity stretching from its snow-capped mountains to sun-drenched beaches; tranquil temples to bustling bazzars and lantern-lit villages. Here in "India" Restaurant in Kendal we are proud to introduce new high quality dishes that we hope reflect our interpretation of Indian cuisine. We are pleased to take on board any suggestions that will help to improve the quality of our service, which we hope is of the highest standard.
